MUSIC NOTES

Singing the anthem for this week's worship service, we welcome Jasmin Crossfield. Jasmin has a Bachelor of Arts in Voice from Bowie State University and now studies towards a Music Therapy degree at Washington Adventist University. She has an active Physical Therapist license and she enjoys utilizing music in combination with healing clinical practices for children and adults with special needs. Jasmin will participate in tonight's WAU winners' concert. You may find more details about this performance in the back of your bulletin. Accompanying her is Dr. Mark Di Pinto, piano faculty at WAU and frequent attendee of Spencerville Church.

The presented songs are two spirituals, which stem from an anonymous tradition, but each arranged by African American composers: Hall Johnson and Margaret Bonds.

CHURCH/SCHOOL LIFE

MASK MANDATE LIFTED

Masks are no longer required but are still recommended for those who are immunocompromised, unvaccinated, or those who may feel more comfortable wearing a mask. Our desire is that

Spencerville Church remains a safe place for people to grow spiritually and relationally, free of assumption and without fear of judgment or ridicule, where people from all backgrounds can come together in worship while continuing to grow into who Jesus has called them to be, mask or no mask. More information can be found on our website at spencervillechurch.org/mask-update.

CONDOLENCES

With sadness but persevering hope in the soon return of Jesus, we share that Irene Heine, a longtime member of the Spencerville community, passed away early Monday morning, March 28. She was 93. In keeping with Irene's wishes, the service will be a small, private ceremony for the family. Please remember the Sines, Brockett, and Cordero families in prayer as they mourn Irene's loss.

A full tribute is available on the church website at spencervillechurch.org/news.

Alternatively, you may bring supplies ordered through Amazon or other means to be delivered directly to their church.
